

Nicolas Hommel

Email: nhommel@mit.edu

Homepage: <https://www.nicolashommel.com/>

ACADEMIC POSITIONS

2027– Assistant Professor of Finance, MIT Sloan
2026–27 Saieh Family Fellow, Becker–Friedman Institute

EDUCATION

2026 Ph.D. in Economics, Princeton University
2020 M.S. in Economics, École Polytechnique & ENSAE Paris
2019 M.S. in Management, HEC Paris

ACADEMIC PAPERS

1. “Firms’ Foreign Exchange Hedging” with Thibaut Piquard, 2025.
2. “Corporate Valuation: An Empirical Comparison of Discounting Methods” with Augustin Landier and David Thesmar, 2025.
Revise and resubmit, Review of Financial Studies.
3. “Why Invoicing Currency Heterogeneity Matters: A Sufficient Statistics Approach” with Michael Jenuwine, 2024.
Reject and resubmit, Journal of International Economics.

PRESENTATIONS

2026 Berkeley Haas, Bocconi University, Boston College Carroll, Chicago Booth, Columbia Business School, Dartmouth Tuck, EIEF, Harvard Business School, IESE, INSEAD, Michigan Ross, MIT Sloan, UBC Sauder, UW Madison Business School
Before 2026 Western Finance Association, K Virtual Finance Seminar, IMIM

FELLOWSHIPS & AWARDS

2026 Top Finance Graduate Award
2025 Ben Bernanke Prize in Financial and Monetary Economics
2025 IHS Junior Fellow
2024–25 Prize Fellowship in the Social Sciences
2023 Princeton Graduate School Teaching Award
2022–24 Princeton International Economics Section Summer Fellowship

PAST EMPLOYMENT

2018 EDF Invest, Private Equity Analyst Intern

2017 Inspection générale des finances, Intern

TEACHING ASSISTANT AT PRINCETON

Fall 2023 ECO 342 Money and Banking

Fall 2022 ECO 312 Econometrics: A Mathematical Approach

Spring 2024

Fall 2022 Junior Independent Work